the current do not call law is too strict